

Call for Papers
Nova Law Review, Volume 45, Florida Book

Nova Law Review is currently accepting submissions for publication in our Florida Book published in the Fall of 2020. We are considering submissions from all legal disciplines relating to Florida's jurisdiction.

About Nova Law Review

Nova Southeastern University Shepard Broad College of Law and the Nova Law Review seek submissions for Volume 45 of the Florida Book. Nova Law Review publishes three issues per volume: the Florida Book, the General Book, and the Symposium Book. The issues are published in the Fall and Spring, respectively. The Review is a student-operated journal serving judges, practitioners, scholars, and students by publishing outstanding legal scholarship and enhancing the intellectual climate of Shepard Broad College of Law.

Florida Book

The Florida Book covers legal and policy developments specific to Florida's jurisdiction. Articles published in the Florida Book provide relevant and timely commentary on issues relating to immigration, education, drug rehabilitation, and other issues adjoining the law. Notably, the Florida Book has been cited by the Florida Supreme Court in re-shaping the Florida Rules of Criminal Procedure in Taking the "Sandwich" Off of the Menu: Should Florida Depart from Over 150 Years of Its Criminal Procedure and Let Prosecutors Have the Last Word? by Nova Law Review alumnus Nicole Velasco Oden. Nova Law Review's Florida Book continues to be a platform of change and progress in the Florida legal community.

Submissions

You may submit your articles and inquiries to lawreview@nova.edu, or to Hunter Scharf, our Lead Articles Editor, at hs792@mynsu.nova.edu.

Deadline for submissions is: July 31, 2020

Sincerely,

Richard Sena
Nova Law Review, Editor-in-Chief
rs2379@mynsu.nova.edu